

Based on all of the above exercises, make a complete list in the space below of ALL the things regarding your little one's sleep physiology that you want to keep in mind during the sleep training process: